

The Balance between Aircraft Reliability and Operational Cost

- What are the factors critical to enhancing aircraft reliability? What are OEMs doing progressively to make it more efficient?
- How important in your mind are the elements for effective operations cost for planning and control below?
 - a. Operations reliability
 - b. Service quality
 - c. Cost management
 - d. Revenue Maximization
- How focus Corporate operational reliability or on time performance program culture help organizations? Please provide your individual expertise and how it relates to your company culture.
- How to improve process and accelerated TAT while managing cost in the right place?
- What is the balance between increasing aircraft reliability and decrease operational cost?
- What is the projection of available resources(Labor) to ensure there are smooth flow of technician and technical expertise available to maintain the growing fleet in Asia?